"IT GIVES YOU THE TOOLS"

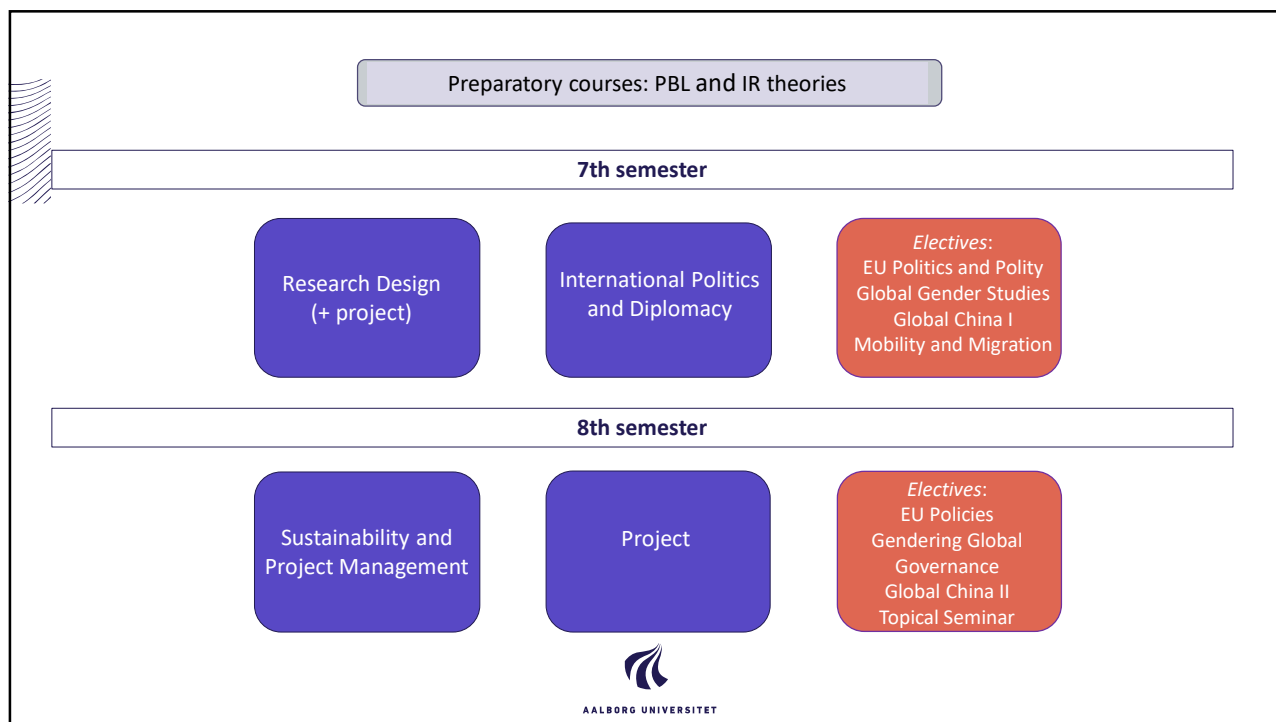

You don't realize the advantages and the skills that you gained from DIR before you're standing in a multi stakeholder situation that requires you to think hard and react fast. The internship and the project work give you the necessary diplomatic skills, ease and ability to work in an international setting. It gives you the tools to solve the challenges you face while you – and this is important- have fun with it!

"DIR WILL DEFINITELY HELP YOU SUCCEED"

The interaction of countries, peoples, organizations and institutions is relevant to everyone. To some like me, with the world as their work place and colleagues from uncountable nationalities with completely different backgrounds and perspectives, these interactions are even more important once they influence every action of our daily lives. DIR with its project work dynamics and internationality has given me not only a sample of the real world but it has also helped me to develop the skills to excel in such a challenging environment. If you also want to think and live globally, DIR will definitely help you succeed!"
